

Bioinformatics Career Night

Wed. Nov. 16th 6:00-8:00pm in BSC 253A/B

Recent job postings on Indeed.com:

Over 50 new bioinformatics jobs listed in the St. Louis area with 41 having starting salaries of $70,000+

If these types of job opportunities sound interesting to you, come learn about bioinformatics careers from people working in the field at Monsanto, Danforth Plant Sciences Center, Cofactor Genomics, and Washington University School of Medicine.

Free food and refreshments

Sponsored by the SLU Master's Program in Bioinformatics & Computational Biology

For more information, go to:
<http://bioinformatics.slu.edu>